Prerequisites

You should be familiar and comfortable with fractions and decimals, graphing, and solving basic linear algebraic equations. If you find these problems very difficult, please come and see me during my office hours.

Required Materials

For this course, access to the Aplia course homework and e-book website for Greg Mankiw's Principles of Microeconomics is required. Visit <https://login.cengagebrain.com/cb/login.htm> to set up an account.

The course key is D2KW-2VBY-TDUL

You are able to get temporary access to the class that will last until the 13th of June.

Feel free to purchase a hard-copy textbook on top of the e-book if you like the feel of paper between your fingers.

You are also required to have a 'clicker' for the course to answer in-class questions. One can be obtained at the Bookstore, and can be used for any other courses that require them during the rest of your

Exams

Exams will be mostly multiple choice questions, with (possibly) some short-answer questions. The tentative Exam schedule is as follows:

1. Exam 1 : June 10th
2. Exam 2 : June 24th
3. Final Exam: July 1st

All exams will be held during class time in the same room.

Homework

Homework is conducted through the Aplia site. Homework will be due (roughly) Tuesdays and Thursdays.

In-Class Questions

We will have in-class questions using 'clickers' almost every class. You will receive a point for every question you answer.

Recitation / Exam Make-up

There are no make up exams.

If you miss an exam for any reason, you will be given a zero. However, you will also be given a grade in recitation, and at the end of the semester, I will replace your lowest exam score (not including the Final Exam) with your recitation score, if it helps your grade.

E-mail

I am happy to answer your e-mails. However, since there are many students in this class, I ask that you give me at least 24 hours to respond. Also, I will only respond during business hours (not on weekends!!). If I feel you can find the answer to the question on this syllabus, I will e-mail you back a terse "Syllabus." Please don't be offended, and please don't send me these kind of e-mails. Last, please start a new thread, rather than replying to a class-wide e-mail.

I am not allowed, by law, to discuss grades with you or anyone else over e-mail.
